

Click to verify

Answers ffxiv lyrics

I close my eyes, tell us why must we suffer Release your hands, for your will drags us under My legs grow tired, tell us where must we wander How can we carry on if redemption's beyond us? To all of my children in whom life flows abundant To all of my children to whom death hath passed his judgement The soul yearns for honor, and the flesh the hereafter Look to those who walked before to lead those who walk after Shining is the land's light of justice Ever flows the land's well of purpose Walk free, walk free, walk free, believe The land is alive, so believe Suffer (feel) promise (think) witness (teach) reason (hear) Follow (feel) wander (think) stumble (teach) listen(speak) Honor (speak) value (tell) whisper (tell) mention (hope) Ponder (hope) warrant (wish) cherish (wish) welcome (roam) Witness (roam) listen (roam) suffer (roam) sanction (sleep) Weather (sleep) wander (sleep) answer (sleep on) Now open your eyes while our plight is repeated Still deaf to our cries, lost in hope we lie defeated Our souls have been torn, and our bodies forsaken Bearing sins of the past, for our future is taken War born of strife, these trials persuade us not (Feel what? Learn what?) Words without sound, these lies betray our thoughts Mired by a plague of doubt, the land, she mourns (See what? Hear what?) Judgement binds all we hold to a memory of scorn Tell us why, given life, we are meant to die, helpless in our cries? Witness (feel) suffer (think) borrow (teach) reason (hear) Follow (feel) stumble (think) wander (teach) listen (blink) Whisper (blink) shoulder (blink) ponder (blink) weather (hear) Answer (look) answer (think) answer together Thy life is a riddle, to bear rapture and sorrow To listen, to suffer, to entrust unto tomorrow In one fleeting moment, from the land doth life flow Yet in one fleeting moment, for anew it doth grow In the same fleeting moment thou must live Die and know Writer/s: Nobuo Uematsu I close my eyes, tell us why must we suffer. Release your hands, for your will drags us under. My legs grow tired, tell us where must we wander. How can we carry on, if redemption's beyond us? To all of my children in whom Life flows abundant To all of my children to whom Death hath passed his judgement The soul yearns for honor, and the flesh the hereafter Look to those who walked before, to lead those who walk after. Shining is the Land's light of justice. Ever flows the Land's well of purpose. Walk free, walk free, walk free, believe... The Land is alive, so believe... Suffer (Feel) Promise (Think) Witness (Teach) Reason (Hear) Follow (Feel) Wander (Think) Stumble (Teach) Listen (Speak) Honor (Speak) Value (Tell) Whisper (Tell) Mention (Hope) Ponder (Hope) Warrant (Wish) Cherish (Wish) Welcome (Roam) Witness (Roam) Listen (Roam) Suffer (Roam) Sanction (Sleep) Weather (Sleep) Wander (Sleep) Answer (Sleep on) Now open your eyes, while our plight is repeated Still deaf to our cries, lost in hope we lie defeated Our souls have been torn, and our bodies forsaken Bearing sins of the past, for our future is taken War born of strife, these trials persuade us not (Feel what? Learn what?) Words without sound, these lies betray our thoughts (See what? Hear what?) Mired by a plague of doubt, the Land, she mourns judgement binds all we hold to a memory of scorn Tell us why, given Life, we are meant to die, helpless in our cries? Witness (Feel) Suffer (Think) Borrow (Teach) Reason (Hear) Follow (Feel) Stumble (Think) Wander (Teach) Listen (Blink) Whisper (Blink) Shoulder (Blink) Ponder (Blink) Weather (Hear) Answer (Look) Answer (Think) Answer together Thy Life is a riddle, to bear rapture and sorrow To listen, to suffer, to entrust unto tomorrow In one fleeting moment, from the Land doth life flow Yet in one fleeting moment, for anew it doth grow In the same fleeting moment Thou must live Die And know I close my eyes Tell us why must we suffer Release your hands For your will drags us under My legs grow tired Tell us where must we wander How can we carry on If redemption's beyond us? To all of my children In whom Life flows abundant To all of my children To whom Death hath passed his judgement The soul yearns for honor And the flesh the hereafter Look to those who walked before To lead those who walk after Shining is the Land's light of justice Ever flows the Land's well of purpose Walk free, walk free, walk free, believe The Land's alive, so believe (Suffer) feel (feel) (Promise) think (think) (Witness) teach (teach) (Reason) hear (hear) (Follow) feel (feel) (Wander) think (think) (Stumble) teach (teach) (Listen) speak (speak) (Honor) speak (speak) (Value) tell (tell) (Whisper) tell (tell) (Mention) hope (hope) (Ponder) hope (hope) (Warrant) wish (wish) (Cherish) wish (wish) (Welcome) roam (roam) (Witness) roam (roam) (Listen) roam (roam) (Suffer) roam (roam) (Sanction) sleep (sleep) (Weather) sleep (sleep) Wander (Sleep) (Answer) sleep on Now open your eyes While our plight is repeated Still deaf to our cries Lost in hope we lie defeated Our souls have been torn And our bodies forsaken Bearing sins of the past For our future is taken War born of strife These trials persuade us not (Feel what? Learn what?) Words without sound These lies betray our thoughts Mired by a plague of doubt, the Land, she mourns (See what? Hear what?) Judgement binds (judgement binds) All we hold to a memory of scorn Tell us why (tell us why) Given Life We are meant to die Helpless in our cries? Witness (Feel) Suffer (Think) Borrow (Teach) Reason (Hear) Follow (Feel) Stumble (Think) Wander (Teach) Listen (Blink) Whisper (Blink) Shoulder (Blink) Ponder (Blink) Weather (Hear) Answer (Look) Answer (Think) Answer together Thy Life is a riddle, To bear rapture and sorrow To listen, to suffer To entrust unto tomorrow In one fleeting moment From the Land doth life flow Yet in one fleeting moment For anew it doth grow in the same fleeting moment Thou must live, die, and know Writer(s): Nobuo Uematsu, Tsutomu Narita, Yaeko Sato, Michael-Christopher Koji Fox Lyrics powered by www.mustmatch.com Fehlerhaften Songtext melden "Answers" is the main vocal theme for the MMORPG Final Fantasy XIV (FFXIV 1.0) and its relaunched version Final Fantasy XIV: A Realm Reborn. (FFXIV 2.0). The lyrics for the song are written by Yaeko Sato (the game's scenario writer) and Michael-Christopher Koji Fox (the English localization lead and contributing writer). Susan Calloway is the primary vocalist. Answers has featured a number of times at key points in the game's history and story. Its first public appearance was as part of the pre-release trailer for FFXIV. It had some incidental appearances in the initial version of the game. Because of the game's initial poor reception and the reputation stake of being a numbered entry in the Final Fantasy series, the decision was made to shut down the game and relaunch with a completely overhauled version. Around this time, Masayoshi Soken took over as the primary director and composer of the game's music. (Uematsu would later be invited back to compose the vocal themes for the Heavensward and Stormblood expansions.) As part of the transition from 1.0 to 2.0 a plot was introduced where the world's second moon, Dalamund, was set on a collision course with the planet Heydelyn. A distorted version of Answers, ("Answers - Reprise" in the track list for Before The Fall soundtrack album, nicknamed "Dalamund Answers" by the fans before then) could be heard throughout the game environments as the moon loomed ever closer. The desperate last stand against Dalamund and the faction that engineered its fall, as well as the fallout from it, were given in the trailer End of an Era, released at the end of the 1.0 shutdown event. End of an Era revealed that Dalamund was actually the artificial construction of the ancient Allagan civilization to imprison and contain the dragon primal Bahamut. The fall of Dalamund and the release of Bahamut brought about the Sixth Umbral Calamity. A trimmed version of Answers provides the trailer's music and the trailer would go on to become the title movie for 2.0. When A Realm Reborn picks up the story, five years have passed since the Calamity. High level players could explore the ruins of Dalamund in the raid series "Binding Coil of Bahamut". The environment music for Coil contains several musical callbacks to the Answers melody and the vocal track was eventually used as the music for the final boss fight against Bahamut himself. The "Answers - Reprise" track is played annually in event areas during "The Rising". The event marks the launch anniversary of A Realm Reborn; in the game's story it is the memorial observance for the survivors of the Calamity. In a promotional interview for FFXIV 1.0, Uematsu explains that he wanted to have Susan Calloway sing the piece after hearing her perform as the vocalist for the American tour of Distant Worlds (the ongoing Final Fantasy orchestral concert series). He also mentions that unusually for his work process, he received the lyrics of the song before any work was done on the melody and notes that "the theme song is very much grounded in the game's setting". Very little has been conclusively said about the meaning of the song but it is generally understood as a dialog between Hydaelyn (the world's crystal of Light) and the people of her world. Fan theories have tried to tie the words to a number of other events in the game's story; this is possibly an indication that the broad themes of the song keep being referred to as the story moves on. The version of "Answers" in the game features guitar and rock organ as its main backing instruments. The orchestral arrangement of "Answers" has featured prominently in the Distant Worlds concert series and is included as a track on the album Distant Worlds III: More Music from Final Fantasy. Susan Calloway also released a single version of the song called Answers - The Artist Cut, a soft pop-style arrangement with the choral parts of the original mostly omitted. Print view Album / Collection: [SQEX-20012] BEFORE METEOR - FINAL FANTASY XIV Original SoundtrackTrack # 104 Description: Main Theme Lyrics : Sato Yaeko & Michael-Christopher Koji FoxVocal : Susan Calloway Lyrics from Animelyrics.comI close my eyes, tell us why must we suffer Release your hands, for your will drags us under My legs grow tired, tell us where must we wander How can we carry on if redemption's beyond us? To all of my children in whom life flows abundant To all of my children to whom death hath passed his judgement The soul yearns for honour, and the flesh the hereafter Look to those who walked before to lead those who walk after Shining is the Land's light of justice Ever flows the Land's well of purpose Walk free, walk free, walk free, believe... The Land's alive, so believe... Suffer (Feel) Promise (Think) Witness (Teach) Reason (Hear) Follow (Feel) Wander (Think) Stumble (Teach) Listen (Speak) Honour (Speak) Value (Tell) Whisper (Tell) Mention (Hope) Ponder (Hope) Warrant (Wish) Cherish (Wish) Welcome (Roam) Witness (Roam) Listen (Roam) Suffer (Roam) Sanction (Sleep) Weather (Sleep) Wander (Sleep) Answer Sleep on Now open your eyes while our plight is repeated Still deaf to our cries, lost in hope we lie defeated Our souls have been torn, and our bodies forsaken Bearing sins of the past, for our future is taken War born of strife, these trials persuade us not (Feel what? Learn what?) Words without sound, these lies betray our thoughts Mired by a plague of doubt, the Land, she mourns (See what? Hear what?) Judgement binds all we hold to a memory of scorn Tell us why, given Life, we are meant to die, helpless in our cries? Witness (Feel) Suffer (Think) Borrow (Teach) Reason (Hear) Follow (Feel) Stumble (Think) Wander (Teach) Listen (Blink) Whisper (Blink) Shoulder (Blink) Ponder (Blink) Weather (Hear) Answer (Look) Answer (Think) Answer together Thy Life is a riddle, to bear rapture and sorrow To listen, to suffer, to entrust unto tomorrow In one fleeting moment, from the Land doth life flow Yet in one fleeting moment, for anew it doth grow In the same fleeting moment Thou must live Die And know Transliterated by Hikarin [Submit an English translation for this song] See an error in these lyrics? Let us know here! 16. September 2021 Dee Lyrics 1