Cardboard Packaging Advantages Facts About Bubble Wrap How to Decorate an Indian Restaurant May 22, 2012 By Lacy Facebook1.0K Twitter Email We've been working on these Holy Spirit doves, just in time for Pentecost! They're really easy to make- my 6 year old loved this craft. You can stop at just a dove, or you can attach the gifts of the Holy Spirit to learn a little something extra. This craft would be perfect for Baptisms, Confirmation, or anything else to do with the Holy Spirit- not just Pentecost. You can find all of my Holy Spirit resources for kids here. Supplies Needed: White paper plate (the cheap kind) Markers Scissors Tape String or ribbon Yellow Paper Updated to say: I now have a printable version of this craft available! Ok. Back to your regularly scheduled blog post reading. © Start with a regular, cheap paper plate. First, cut it into thirds in big strips. The outside pieces become the wings, and the middle becomes the body of the dove. Cut the dove's tail and body from the middle section after cutting the wings free. The dove's body is easy to draw because it's just shaped like a snowman. Draw the lines you need to cut on the back of the paper plate. That way, when you flip it over the marker lines won't show. See picture below: Cut on your lines, and then assemble like a dove with one of the big wings on each side. Secure the wings on the back of the dove with tape. I like tape for this because it does a good job, and then you don't have to wait on any glue to dry. Draw on some simple feet, a beak, and 2 eyes with markers. You can stop here and have a perfectly lovely Holy Spirit dove. If you want to take it a step farther, you can add the gifts of the Holy Spirit. I cut one tear-drop shape out of a piece of paper, and gave it to Lydia to trace and cut her own. I told her she needed 7 of them. Cut them out, and write the gifts of the Holy Spirit on them. Tape string or ribbon to the back of each flame, and then to the back of the dove. Tape one more piece of string or ribbon on the back of each wing so you can hang your dove. Ta-da!!! Gifts of the Holy Spirit dove! I really like this craft, and it came out cuter than I thought it would. You can hang these anywhere! Here's Lydia's (age 6) Lydia always insists on doing things her own way. She cut hers out so her dove was looking to the side (which I thought was cute). She just labeled her flames 1-7. She also wanted her wings on upside-down from mine. Then, when I took a break to check on the baby, she decorated her dove by drawing spiders on it- lol. She's so pleased! Facebook1.0K Twitter Email The Spruce / Rita Shehan You can teach kids to tell time with this paper plate clock craft tutorial. Most children can easily understand time with digital clocks, but face a bit of a challenge learning to recognize time on an analog clock. Although digital clocks are quite popular these days, analog clocks aren't going away any time soon, and reading them is a skill a child will have to master. Help your kids stay ahead of the curve with this easy paper clock craft project, which is great to do at home or in the classroom. Before you can even start working with a paper clock, your children must understand three essential skills: They must be able to count from one to 60.They must be able to count by fives.They must have a general understanding of time. For instance, they should know the difference between morning, noon, and night. After your child has mastered the basic counting principles, they are ready to start learning how to tell time on a paper clock. The Spruce / Rita Shehan To get started, gather the following supplies: Paper plate (can be colored or white) Craft paint Paintbrush Crayons, markers, or pens Cardstock Number stickers (1 to 12) Paper brad Glue stick Age-appropriate scissors Optional: embellishments to decorate the clock The Spruce / Rita Shehan If you are using a plain white paper plate, you may paint it a color of your choice, or you can keep it white. Your kids might have fun decorating the paper plates in colors that they love. If you want to save time, skip a step and use a marker to write on the paper plates instead of using stickers. Draw the numbers 12, 3, 6, and 9 around the inner edges of your plate with a marker, then fill in the rest of the numbers. This trick will help you keep the numbers evenly spaced around the plate. You can make your paper clock fancier by placing sticker numbers from 1 to 12 around the circumference of your paper plate. Make sure to put the numbers 12, 3, 6, and 9 on the plate first, the same as if you were drawing the numbers on with a marker. Then place the rest of the numbers in the appropriate spaces around the inner edge of the paper clock. For young children who may have difficulty placing the numbers in the proper places around the face of the clock, you can write them on in pencil, and your child can match the sticker numbers up with your pencil marks, and glue them in place. The Spruce / Rita Shehan Draw two rectangles on a sheet of card stock. One rectangle should be long for the minute hand and the other rectangle should be shorter for the hour hand.Cut the rectangles out with scissors.Cut a point on one short edge of each rectangle with scissors.Turn the paper plate over and mark the center of the plate with a pen, pencil, or marker.Use the sharp point of the scissors to pierce a small hole in the center of the paper plate.Turn the plate over.Pierce small holes onto the square end of your clock hands and insert the paper brad.Insert the paper brad with the hands into the middle hole on top of the paper plate and pull the brad apart on the back to secure it to the paper plate. Make sure that the brad is loose enough to allow free movement of the clock hands. The Spruce / Rita Shehan To help your child distinguish the difference between the clock hands, use a marker to write minute on the long hand and hour on the shorter hand. The Spruce / Rita Shehan Technically, the clock is finished at this point. We crafters, however, always have to take it a step further and put our creative mark on things! You can embellish the paper plate clock with paper flowers, buttons, wash tape, or whatever you feel like to give it some fun and pizzazz. Use your imagination to make the paper clock special while having fun with your child.
