Aside from skin tone, certain shades look better on the season. Slip-on a red dress in a cocktail or mini-length with a corset bodice perfect for styling with sparkly hoops and lucite mules or bring the romance in a lace short dress with platform heels and a statement bracelet for a wine night. For weddings, consider the shade of red and how traditional or untraditional the wedding is. For example, spring and summer call for bright reds like red with blue undertones, corals, cherry reds, fuchsia, magenta, and raspberry. This spring, make red dresses your top choice to channel those sultry and classic vibes for your spring occasions. Also, try wearing a red dress during the day with muted accessories and neutral layers to let this color speak for itself.
