

Click to prove you're human

Air masters cleburne

Airmasters AC, Heat, Plumbing & Electrical has been providing high-end air conditioning service to local communities in Texas since 1985. When you need an HVAC contractor, you can count on them for trusty services. The company was founded in Cleburne over three decades ago and remains committed to serving their friends and neighbors with great HVAC services. Whether building a new home or needing repairs on your current unit, Airmasters AC has got you covered. Their comfort technicians have completed work for countless families in the Burleson area, including new construction, system replacements, preventative maintenance, and light commercial HVAC. They offer a full range of HVAC systems, including air conditioners, furnaces, heat pumps, and indoor air quality products. As the trusted air conditioning service providers in Granbury, their team delivers great products to homeowners in Granbury and surrounding communities. They proudly service all makes and models of HVAC systems, so they'd be happy to help with any type of unit. In Mansfield, homeowners know the importance of good air conditioning, and Airmasters AC is proud to be the preferred choice. Airmasters AC, Heat, Plumbing & Electrical offers a comprehensive range of services to ensure your home or office remains comfortable and well-maintained. Our team of experts has extensive experience in installing and servicing air conditioning systems, furnaces, boilers, and other heating solutions for newly constructed homes and existing properties. Whether you need assistance with a problematic system or require installation of a new unit, our technicians are equipped to handle all types of Trane products. Additionally, we provide maintenance plans to prevent breakdowns and reduce utility bills. Our services extend beyond residential properties to light commercial HVAC products and solutions for businesses in the area. We also specialize in indoor air quality products, ductless AC systems, home automation options, and plumbing repairs. With over 30 years of experience and a commitment to customer satisfaction, Airmasters is your trusted partner for all your comfort needs. Our plumbing repair services will help minimize health risks associated with contaminated water. At Plumbing Installation Company in Cleburne, TX, we offer a 100% satisfaction guarantee for all our repairs. Most plumbing projects are complex, but our experienced and knowledgeable plumbers have the skills to complete them correctly. We work with various materials and fixtures, ensuring that potential problems like water leaks, poor flow, and system malfunctions are prevented. When you hire us, you'll enjoy peace of mind knowing your home's pipes and fixtures function efficiently and effectively. Our team is experienced in installing sump pumps, water lines, water quality devices, and more. Hiring a professional plumber from Airmasters AC, Heat, Plumbing & Electrical ensures that your plumbing installation or repair is done correctly and safely. We're a family-owned company since 1985, committed to providing high-quality plumbing services for small- and large-scale projects. Our residential plumbing services come with flat-rate prices, and we guarantee the longevity of your repairs. Contact us today to schedule services in Burleson, Cleburne, Granbury, Mansfield, or nearby areas in Texas. When hiring an HVAC contractor, Airmasters AC, Heat, Plumbing & Electrical stands out with its specialized knowledge and flat-rate prices. As a Trane Comfort Specialist, they exclusively sell and install Trane systems but service all makes and models of HVAC equipment. Their comfort technicians are equipped with the right tools to get the job done right. What sets Airmasters apart is their commitment to customer satisfaction, backed by a 100% satisfaction guarantee. They offer flat-rate prices for installations, repairs, and maintenance, ensuring no unexpected expenses. The company believes in doing right by each customer and stands behind its products and services. As a trusted HVAC company serving Cleburne, TX, and surrounding areas since 1985, Airmasters has helped thousands of homeowners create a more comfortable indoor environment at the lowest price possible. Their team of skilled technicians specializes in residential and commercial heating, air conditioning, plumbing, and electrical services, ensuring top-quality installations, repairs, and maintenance. Airmasters is proud to be your local heat pump experts, serving Burleson, Cleburne, Granbury, Mansfield, and all surrounding communities since 1985. Whether you're looking for a new heat pump or need a repair, they have the expertise to help. With over 30 years of experience, they prioritize excellence in every project, backed by their commitment to customer satisfaction. Heat pumps operate similarly to standard air conditioners, utilizing the same cooling cycle. In regular central air conditioners, there are two primary components: the indoor evaporator coil and the outdoor condenser coil. The evaporator coil absorbs heat and stores it in special chemicals called refrigerants, which become vapor. The system then transfers the refrigerant vapor to the condenser coil, where a compressor forces the refrigerant to re-condense into a liquid state. This stored heat is released outside, and the refrigerant returns to the indoor coil to restart the cycle. Heat pumps can run in either direction; during cooling seasons, they work like air conditioners, removing heat from indoor air and releasing it outdoors. In heating seasons, the cycle reverses, absorbing outdoor heat and pumping it into homes. This allows for efficient year-round heating and cooling in areas with mild winters. Airmasters Heating & Air Conditioning Inc., a family-owned business since 1985, offers expert installation and service for Trane heat pumps in Dallas/Fort Worth, Texas. If you're seeking a new heat pump, our team will carefully measure your home's heating and cooling loads to properly size the unit, then install it for peak efficiency. To maintain efficient operation, heat pumps require regular maintenance. Our repair experts can service all makes and models of heat pumps, ensuring optimal performance and avoiding costly repairs. We also offer annual maintenance agreements to help prevent unexpected issues. As a Trane Comfort Specialist, we're dedicated to delivering high-quality products and services for your comfort. Heat pumps and air conditioners benefit from biannual professional tune-ups in the spring and fall, while boiler and furnace systems require comprehensive inspections of ductwork, pipes, dampers, valves, the chimney, registers, radiators, pumps, blowers, fuel lines, oil tanks, and every part of the actual furnace or boiler. Heat pump and air conditioning unit inspections should also include fan, compressor, indoor coils, outdoor coils, and refrigerant line checks. Contact us today to optimize your comfort with a quality heat pump and expert service from Airmasters Heating & Air Conditioning Inc. Airmasters Heating & Air Conditioning Inc is a reputable HVAC company in Cleburne, TX, offering repair, installation, and maintenance services. Trane Comfort Specialists work exclusively with the company, ensuring high-quality systems are installed. The business operates from Monday to Friday, 8 AM to 5 PM, and has a physical address at 306 W Westhill Dr. Customers can schedule appointments online or by phone at (817) 506-4862. Airmasters is accredited by the Better Business Bureau and provides a range of services for residential clients in Cleburne, Burleson, and Mansfield. The company prides itself on its professionalism, punctuality, responsiveness, value, and customer service. Many customers have praised Air Masters for their reliability and expertise, citing technicians like Jesse Howell and Stephen Perez as exemplary performers. These individuals demonstrate a commitment to honesty, straightforward communication, and exceptional customer service. Even during periods of technical issues or emergencies, the company's staff, such as Roddy, remain accessible through alternative channels like email. The business prioritizes both customer convenience and safety, particularly when it comes to electrical installations. Air Masters understands that electrical systems are vital to daily life, and therefore takes an extensive approach in ensuring they meet all necessary standards. At Airmasters AC, Heat, Plumbing & Electrical, we are committed to providing prompt and professional electrical repair services in Cleburne, TX. Our experienced electricians can quickly diagnose and fix any issues with your electrical system, ensuring the safety of your family. We strongly advise against attempting DIY electrical repairs yourself, as they can lead to further damage and put your health at risk. Instead, we offer long-lasting solutions that meet your needs. As a family-owned business since 1985, we pride ourselves on delivering high-quality workmanship in residential electrical services. Our team is equipped to handle both small-scale and large-scale new construction projects, providing you with peace of mind. We value our customers' satisfaction above all else, listening carefully to their concerns and addressing them promptly. Our flat-rate pricing policy ensures transparency and reliability, so you can trust that your money will be well spent. Whether you need electrical repairs or installations in Burleson, Cleburne, Granbury, Mansfield, or the surrounding areas of Texas, our team is here to help. With us, you can enjoy reliable and smooth operation of all your electrical appliances.