While the integrated Amazon AppStore has a wide selection of apps and games, it is also possible to install the software that is not available through the official store if you have the APK file. Note that TV fire devices are not fully compatible with all Android apps - many games and apps are designed for a touchscreen and not a physical remote control. Steps: from your device's home screen, the mouse over the "Find" option. Click on "Search". Search for "Downloader". Select the Downloader app. Click on "Download". When the Downloader is installed, return to the home screen screen and open the settings> My Fire TV> Developer options> Install unknown apps. You'll see the Downloader app. Click on it. This will settle "unknown sources" for "ON" for the Downloader app, which will enable side loading to the device. Now open the Downloader app. A popup will appear by asking if the downloader is allowed to access the files on the device. Click on "Allow". A popup called "Quick Start Guide" will appear. Click "OK". Now you will see a URL field. Place the cursor in the URL field and click the OK button on the remote control to open the keyboard. Enter exactly the following URL as listed - https://7techgirl.com/apk/181356 or and click on "Go" The Astro Go APK file will start downloading. Wait until the file download was downloaded. After the Astro Go is downloaded, click install on the next. Popup. Your Astro Go APK will now be installed.
