

I'm not a bot

Napoleon book of fate

The Book of Fate, believed to be Napoleon Bonaparte's greatest treasure, was consulted on crucial occasions, yielding insightful predictions about the future. Astrological Symbols: Sun: represents great luck and happiness when clear; signifies sadness in thick conditions. Moon: denotes high honors when clear, sadness without prejudice if thick; fortunate by sea and land if at the bottom of the cup. Mountains: favor of people with high rank if single; signs of powerful enemies if multiple, contrary if clear. Trees: - One tree in clear or thick conditions points to lasting good health; several trees indicate accomplishment of wishes, but dashes signify a fortune still developing. The Child, Woman, and Rod: - Clear child: innocent interaction with another person. - Thick child: excess love matters with great expense. - Clear woman: much joy, general happiness; thick woman: great jealousy. - Dots surround the image: lady's fertility or wealth. Positions in the Cup: - Top and middle: being in love with a virgin. - Bottom: being in love with a widow. Pedestrian and Rider: - Pedestrian: good business, pleasant news, recovery of lost things, enlistment in a new venture. - Rider: good news from abroad, financial success, foreign job prospects. The Mouse: - Living by stealth: theft or robbery; clear condition shows recovery of lost items. Rod and Flowers: *Rod: difference with relatives about legacies, illness if thick. *Married party: expectation of good children, a blessing in old age. Heart and Garden/Wood: - Clear heart: future pleasure; dots signify recovery of money. - Ring or two hearts: imminent marriage or betrothal. - Letter near the ring: initial of the person's name. - Clear garden/wood: large company with good friends. - Thick condition or streaks: beware of false friends. If in the clear, it signifies troubles ahead but of short duration. In the thick, good living is indicated with a speedy successful voyage or journey to a great distance. Fish imply lucky events, but if surrounded by dashes, you'll face troubled waters. The Lion at the top signifies prosperity, while its bottom warns of envy. The Green Bush indicates benevolence and honours, but without foliage, it announces unexpected remittance. Worms at the top or in the middle signify good luck at play and in matrimony, but below warn against rivals. The House indicates success in enterprises and a better situation soon. However, if in the middle or below, be vigilant over servants. The Scythe combined with an hour-glass denotes imminent dangers, while below, it signifies a long and happy life. Man inclined to peace, genuine but slow-witted. A pronounced chin hints at a deep understanding, courage, and praiseworthy conversation skills. A double chin suggests a peaceful nature, though dull in perception, vain, glibble, and secretive about one's actions. Large ears signify foolishness, while small, thin ears indicate wit, gravity, modesty, and a willingness to serve friends. Those with ordinary-sized ears are bold, uncivilized, vain, and prone to error. One who unwillingly hears praise is a bold individual. A well-lived life and good hearing accompany this characteristic. A sweaty face upon movement indicates a hot constitution. A chubby face suggests fearfulness, though accompanied by a merry heart and bountiful nature. A lean face denotes intelligence, but with some capricious tendencies. Broad nails signify gentleness, bashfulness, and fear of speaking before superiors. Excrescences on the nails indicate luxury, fear, and an appreciation for enjoyment. White marks at the end suggest improvidence, leading to fortune's ruin through negligence. Narrow nails reveal a desire for knowledge in the sciences. Lengthened narrow nails indicate ambition, but a tendency to grasp unattainable goals. Redness or multicolored ends on both nails indicate choleric tendencies and a love of fighting. Blackened tips denote an affinity for agriculture, finding happiness in mediocrity and avoiding extreme fortunes' troubles. Round nails characterize a hasty individual, yet kind-hearted, forgiving, and honest-minded. Long nails suggest good nature, but no reliance on others due to past experiences with deceit. Fleshy nails indicate a calm and idle person, enjoying sleep, eating, drinking, and shunning busy life. Little round nails reveal obstinacy, displeasure, and a tendency to dislike everyone else, as one considers themselves superior to others without justification. Pale or lead-colored nails denote melancholy, sedentary habits, and a preference for study over other pursuits. Red and spotted nails suggest cholera and martial tendencies, delighting in cruelty and war, with pleasure derived from plundering towns. Finally, black spots on the nails signify... Given text here evil is often associated with those who wear white clothing or have white skin, for it is believed that only good people can be pure. When someone has long white nails, they are more likely to fall ill. If their skin has pale spots on the white area, it means they will live a short life and be prone to sadness. Moles are small marks on the skin that can reveal a lot about a person's character and destiny. For example, a mole near your wrist might indicate that you're intelligent and hardworking. A mole between your elbow and wrist suggests you have a calm and cheerful personality. However, moles placed differently on your body can signify different traits - for instance, a mole on the right arm indicates courage, while one on the left shoulder signifies a quarrelsome nature. Having certain types of moles also predicts specific life events - like marrying someone with many desirable qualities and possessing a large fortune, or being prone to laziness and overindulgence. Mole reading is considered fortunate as it indicates a strong connection between the individual and their destiny. Palmistry involves interpreting the lines on an individual's hand to reveal their life path, personality traits, and future prospects. The key lines include: - The line of life, which runs from the wrist to the root of the forefinger, indicating the person's overall direction and purpose. - The table line, situated in the middle of the hand, and its variations, signifying planetary influences on the individual. - The liver line, also known as the brain line, forming a triangle with the table line, reflecting cognitive abilities and mental clarity. - The girdle of Venus, located near the joint of the little finger, indicating emotional and sensual experiences. Interpreting palmistry requires an understanding of sacred characters, such as letters formed on the hand, which can reveal fortunes and misfortunes. For instance, an A between the mount of the moon and the hollow of the hand may signify illness or loss. If a ring appears clearly in the cup, it may signal a fortunate and profitable friendship. However, if the ring is shrouded by clouds, it advises caution in forming this new bond, as one might be deceived. The presence of a ring at the bottom of the cup is considered most unfavorable, foretelling complete separation from something cherished. A lone Leaf of Clover can bring good fortune; its position within the cup makes all the difference. When it's on top and clear, good luck is near. But if it's in the middle or at the bottom, success may be delayed. If clouds surround it, even the good fortune will come with difficulties. In a clear state, the Leaf of Clover signals undisturbed happiness. The Anchor symbolizes hope and commerce; its appearance at the bottom indicates successful business ventures on both land and water. When visible at the top in a clear part of the cup, it signifies constant love and unshakable fidelity. However, when shrouded by thick or cloudy areas, it denotes love tinged with the inconsistency of the butterfly. The Serpent is an emblem of falsehood and enmity; its presence in the cup indicates a potential enemy. If seen on top or in the middle, it promises triumph over this foe. But if it's found in thick or cloudy parts, success may be harder to achieve. The letter accompanying the serpent can hint at the identity of the enemy by indicating the initial of their name. A single Letter often appears near symbols, signifying communication between friends. A clear and visible letter indicates speedy arrival of welcome news. However, if surrounded by dots, it signals a significant financial remittance or payment. If shrouded in clouds, this news will be unpleasant. The Coffin, an emblem of death, can predict long illness if found in cloudy areas within the cup. In clear parts, it symbolizes long life. At the top, especially in thick clouds, it signifies inheriting a significant estate from a rich relative. Conversely, its appearance at the bottom shows the deceased is not closely related to the consulting party. A Star visible in clear areas at the top of the cup denotes happiness and joy. Clouded or surrounded by dots, it predicts long life with various troubles. Several stars can symbolize multiple happy children, but surrounded by dots, they might signal future grief and vexation. The Dog, a symbol of fidelity or envy, has a dual meaning here as well. When seen at the top in clear areas, it signifies faithful friends. However, if shrouded in clouds and dashes, it suggests that those you consider friends may not be trustworthy. The ancient art of divination, as described in this mysterious text, involves deciphering symbols to reveal hidden truths about one's future. The Lily flower is a significant emblem, with its placement in the cup indicating the virtues of one's spouse. A clear and unobstructed Lily at the top or middle foretells a long and happy life, while a clouded or obstructed Lily signifies impending trouble. The Cross, whether singular or multiple, generally predicts adversity, but its position affects the circumstances. A Cross at the top, in plain sight, signals the end of misfortunes, whereas a Cross in the middle or bottom, shrouded in clouds, portends many trials. Dotted Clouds imply success and a speedy change for the better. To work the Oraculum, one must create marks in four lines, tallying the number of marks in each line to determine the answer. Odd numbers produce single dots, while even numbers yield double dots. The resulting pattern is compared to a reference chart at the top, guiding the reader to the corresponding answer on a designated page. Certain days are deemed unlucky for attempting questions or undertaking ventures, and it's forbidden to try again in one day. The text also contains brief descriptions of facial features, such as forehead shape and eyebrow arch, which supposedly reveal aspects of a person's personality. He who makes bold decisions without much thought is likely to be confident in his actions. Eyes.— A person with empty eyes appears suspicious and malicious, while someone with staring eyes may be simple and glibble. - Eyes that dart about indicate a person who is dishonest or unfaithful. - Bloodshot eyes suggest a choleric personality. Nose.— - A long, thin nose indicates boldness and anger. - A short nose with a rounded tip signifies vanity and weakness. - A broad nose in the middle suggests a talkative and dishonest nature. Mouth.— A wide mouth reveals a person who is boastful or deceitful. Lips.— The shape of one's lips can signify their personality, such as: - Large, puffy lips might represent a deceitful or manipulative nature. - Thicker lips may symbolize stubbornness and strong willpower. The Five of Diamonds predicts good children to bring comfort. The Ten of Hearts shows kindness and generosity towards others. The King of Hearts is associated with a generous, kind-hearted person, but they can be impulsive and easily frustrated. The Queen of Hearts represents someone who is fair-mannered, faithful and caring. By examining one's birthdate, they can gain insight into their future, including relationships and personal characteristics. The Deuce of Hearts card suggests a person will experience extraordinary success and good fortune, though it may be delayed if unfavorable cards are present. Cards associated with the Spades suit often relate to matters of love and death. A marriage on certain days can have significant effects on one's life. For example, a child born on the 24th day may become a prodigy, admired by many for their remarkable actions. However, on the 25th day, the same child could be wicked and encounter numerous dangers, ultimately perishing due to these risks. Children born on specific days of the week can also have distinct characteristics. Those born on Sunday are likely to live long lives and accumulate wealth. In contrast, children born on Monday may exhibit a weak and effeminate temperament, which can hinder their progress towards honor. Children born on Tuesday face greater challenges, being more prone to violence and death if they do not take precautions. Children born on Wednesday have a natural inclination towards learning, which will serve them well in their academic pursuits. Those born on Thursday are destined for success, but it may come at a later stage of life. The characteristics associated with children born on different days suggest that the day of birth holds significant influence over one's future, and understanding these patterns can provide valuable insights into personal development. On considering a child's horoscope for its birth date, we find that a boy born on Friday shall be strong-willed and perhaps prone to lechery. However, a child born on Saturday may have a tough and stubborn nature, which is not uncommon among kids born on this day. Moreover, some days of the month are considered perilous due to their inherent evil influences. For instance, there are certain dates in each month that pose significant risks if one engages in activities like bloodletting or commencing important ventures. These perilous dates include January 1st, 2nd, 4th, 5th, 10th, 15th, 17th, and 19th; February 8th, 17th, and 21st; March 13th, 16th, and 21st; April 15th and 21st; May 15th, 17th, and 20th; June 4th and 5th; July 15th and 20th; August 10th and 25th; September 6th and 7th; October 19th; November 5th and 7th; December 6th, 7th, and 11th. Additionally, the dog days of summer - from July 19th to August 27th - are considered particularly hazardous. During this period, it's unwise to fall ill or undergo any medical procedures, including bloodletting. If unavoidable, these should be performed before noon. It's also worth noting that cutting one's nails on a Sunday is deemed unlucky, while doing so on Monday is considered fortunate. Certain ominous signs can foretell dissension or unfavorable tidings. A blazing fire that spits or roars may indicate heavy displeasure from someone in authority. VIII. By Charms and Ceremonies. To See a Future Husband: Women gather red sage on Midsummer Night, then place it in a room with rose water. They hang their shifts on a line, not speaking until each woman's future husband takes her sprig and sprinkles it on her shift. Another Way to See a Future Spouse in a Dream: The person seeking answers must sleep elsewhere and knit the left quarter onto the right leg stocking while reciting verses: "This knot I knit, to know the thing I know not yet... What he does all days and years." In a dream, their future spouse will appear with signs of their profession. Will My Sweetheart Marry Me? A woman takes a lamb's shoulder blade, sticking a knife through it each night for nine nights, repeating: "Tis not this bone I mean to stick, But my lover's heart I mean to prick." After nine days, her sweetheart will ask for something to heal a wound. Will She Win His Heart? Rub lemon peels on bed posts if she wants to know if he'll fall in love with her. If successful, he'll appear in her dreams with lemons. Will We Enjoy Each Other's Love? Combine the first letter of their names' numbers, the planet number, and the day of the week. Divide by 40: above 30 means it will happen; below 30 means not. Will a New-Born Child Live or Die? Record the parents' names, child's birthdate, and add each to a specific count. This calculation can foretell the child's fate. To predict a child's fate: add 25 to its number, then divide by 7. If even, it dies; if odd, it lives. To know if someone will get married: hang nine peas over their door and wait for a bachelor to come in. They'll marry within the year on any Friday. Mix rosemary, bay leaves, thyme, and sweet marjoram into a cake, wrap it in paper, and leave under your head on a Friday night. Music means an upcoming marriage, fire indicates opposition, church means singleness. An unmarried woman can see her future husband's fortune by leaving bread, cheese, ale, and a cloth open at midnight on Midsummer Eve. The person who comes will drink to her and then leave. For the husband's fortune: mix grated walnut, hazelnut, and nutmeg with butter and sugar into small pills, take exactly 9 before bed. According to your dreams, his fate will be like that of the chosen card from a deck, considering only those cards nine positions away. The King of Clubs heralds a man of unparalleled virtue, promising a life filled with prosperity and tranquility. The Queen of Clubs offers a gentle soul, one who will yield to the charms of a generous lover before committing to matrimony. In contrast, the Knave of Clubs represents a loyal friend who will fiercely support your interests. The Ten of Clubs brings swift financial gain from an unexpected source, but warns that a cherished friendship may be lost in the process. The Nine of Clubs cautions against stubbornly adhering to one's own path, as it may strain relationships with others. The Eight of Clubs exposes a covetous individual who will ultimately find wealth's comfort elusive. The Seven of Clubs promises unparalleled fortune and bliss, but warns of the dangers of excessive passion. The Six of Clubs indicates a lucrative partnership and well-behaved children. The Five of Clubs foretells an upcoming marriage that will rectify past financial woes. However, the Four of Clubs signals inconstancy driven by financial gain. The Tray of Clubs reveals three marriages to wealthy partners, while the Deuce of Clubs warns against opposition from those who oppose a cherished inclination. Furthermore, certain lunar cycles hold significance for birth and new beginnings: the third day brings potential short-lived life; the fourth day offers prosperity and good fortune; the fifth day is detrimental; the sixth day denotes a long but sickly life; the seventh day allows for success through unusual endeavors; and the eighth day poses risks to newborns. Given article text here He shall live long if sickness befell him; he who has a dream will see it fulfilled soon. Whatever is lost will be found. On the ninth day, a child born shall be very fortunate, with a long and prosperous life. The outcome of any action taken on this day will be favorable. Those being pursued will escape danger, and those suffering under oppression will be relieved. Do not shed blood today, as it is perilous. A child born on the tenth day will travel extensively, visiting many lands before returning home in old age. It is best to do nothing on this day but what you would have done anyway, as all secrets will be revealed. On the eleventh day of the moon's cycle, a child will be born with good health and strong devotion to religion; if female, she will possess wisdom and learning. Marriage on this day is auspicious, bringing happiness and many children to the couple. The twelfth day brings sorrow and woe, as the child born will be prone to anger and facing numerous challenges. On the thirteenth day, a child will have a short life, marked by irritability and discontentment. Marrying on this day is beneficial, as the wife will be loving and obedient. The fourteenth day foretells an enemy to one's country, seeking to destroy their prince, resulting in a tragic end. Administering medicine to a sick person on this day can restore their health. A child born on the fifteenth day will die soon. Begin work on this day, as it is fortunate. What was lost yesterday will be found today. On the sixteenth day, a child will be born with poor manners and unfortunate circumstances, despite living a long life. It is not advisable to dream on this day, as they often come to pass later. The seventeenth day brings a child who will be foolishly impulsive, causing trouble for their parents; however, marriage, taking medicine, or administering physical preparations can be beneficial, but not bloodletting. On the eighteenth day, a male child will be courageous, eloquent, and wise, while a female child will be chaste, industrious, and beautiful. The twentieth day foretells a stubborn, quarrelsome child who will grow into a strong fighter; if male, they will achieve great honor. The child born on a particular day will have mixed fortunes. On the twenty-first day after birth, they'll face unhappiness and a tendency to pilfer. To avoid financial losses, it's crucial to be cautious with gaming and expenses on this day. Additionally, refrain from bloodletting for health reasons. On the twenty-second day, the child will become fortunate and acquire a respectable fortune through wise investments or inheritance. They'll also possess a pleasant demeanor, good looks, and strong religious values. However, by the twenty-third day, their personality might shift towards impulsiveness, leading them to wander aimlessly in pursuit of adventure and new experiences abroad.

Napoleon book of fate pdf free download in marathi. Synopsis of napoleon's book of fate and oraculum. Napoleon book of fate pdf free download. Napoleon book of fate free download. Napoleon book of fate online. Napoleon's book of fate e tarocchi. Napoleon's book of fate and fortune the oraculum. Download napoleon book of fate. Napoleon's book of fate and oraculum pdf download. Napoleon book of fate paranormality. Napoleon's book of fate and oraculum. Napoleon book of fate oracle. Napoleon book of fate in marathi. Napoleon's book of fate and oraculum analysis. Napoleoh book of fate wikipedia.